GROCERIES.

FRIDAY EVENING, June 13, 1873.

A fair trade is doing in most lines of groceries for this period of the year, sales probably showing more animation in consequence of the previous dullness. The coffee market has been rather quiet with first hands, at a reduction on Rio grades. Tea remains quiet, with small lots selling. Sugar has sold more freely, and there has been an improvement both on raw and refined grades. Molasses has been in good request, and the market closes stendy.

TEA.

The market remains in about the same position as when we last wrote. Buyers are taking out lines as they require fresh stocks, but the saies are still restricted to the smallest amounts capable of supplying the current running wants of distributors. Holders have not shown any disposition to press sales during the past week, and buyers are forced to pay full previous rates for what they take out. The transactions in invoices are light, although there is a stendy call for small lots of Greens and Japans, and the sales continue to aggregate a fair amount as compared with preceding weeks. No quotable alterations can be reported on these grades, either in first or second hands, and as holders seem to feel the tone may be called steady. Oolongs remain flat, and are to some extent nominal in the utter absence of business. Holders do not press their goods, and it is difficult to state whether some concession could be obtained or not in the event of buyers showing a desire to operate. The sales of invoices include 1,500 haif chests Green, 1,000 do. Oolongs and 2.750 do. Japans.

There have been no direct imports at New York the past week. The receipts indirectly have been 210 pkgs by steamer.

The following table shows the imports of Tea into the United States from January 1 to date, in 1873 and 1872:

Atlantic ports, 1873...lbs. 11.234.58 12.996,177 8,441.074 92.74.669
Atlantic ports, 1872... 11,946,795 13,968,833 6.655,677 32,199.845
The indirect receipts at New York, principally overland receipts from San Francisco, have been 49,419 pkgs, since Janusry 1, against 76,143 ...ast year.
Imports at San Francisco from Jan. 1 to Msy 16, were 230,100 lbs. of Chins, 1,127,595 lbs. of Japan and 200 lbs. of Java tea.

COFFEE.

Early in the current week the market showed less firmness in consequence of the extreme dallness and the downward tendency developed into a quotable decline of \( \frac{1}{2} \) c. on Rio coffees. The demand from the interior has proved fair, and at the reduced range of values a more liberal distribution has been effected. The transactions are still on a somewhat restricted scale, bayers showing the usual amount of caution displayed at the close of a sesson. The supply in the interior seems to require pretty constant replenishing, and small parcels of Rio and other grades are in steady request. There is still an absence of the India grades, and it is difficult to find stack of the description^a most in favor for roating. There is some Lagrayra in, but no Maracaibo is offered, and the market is still bare of St. Domingo. A cargo of the latter hea been sold in transit to Havre, but no transactions are reported for this market. The market closes steady on all grades, with the Brazil descriptions fairly sustained by Rio telegrams, which continue to be of a favorable character, *uskained by Rio lelegrams, which continue to be of a favorable character, East India grades bave been very dult. The sales include 3,6'4 bags Costa Rica, 334 do Mexican, 105 do Laguayra, 40 do. Savanilla, 7'9 do. quarter, and 692 eighth bales Mocha, in 10ts to consumption; 4,699 bags Maracaflo, to arrive per "Heney," "liva," and "Spring Bird," and 6,3'11 do to arrive per sundry vessels. 1,191 Rio, ex "Flam teed," 2,401 do., ex "Unioo," 18%c.; 1,637 do., ex "Ontario," 19%c.; 1,163 do., ex "Gassendt," 18%c., all here. At Biltimore, 624 do., ex "Reawing," and 1,125 do., ex "Chowan."

Imports have included 3,5'66 bags Rio, per "Zingara;" 2,630 do. St. Domingo, per "Ring Dove," 200 do. do., per "J. Frazier," 115 do. do., per "Perit," and 4,434 do. sundries.

SUGAR.

The improvement in the call for refined sugar noticed in our last report has had the effect of increasing refiners' operations, and a more liberal demand for raw goods has been noticeable throughout the week. With the increased activity holders instituted an immediate advance, and quotations were put ap At this improvement the demand has continued good, and stocks have been kept well under control, although the arrivals have been very liberal. A strong ione prevalls at the close, with refiners still operating liberally at the advanced quotations. The demand for refined sugars has been active, and the market has been strong throughout the week, with a constant tendency toward better rates. At the close prices show an advance over last week, and are very firm. In hards, the most activity has been in pewdered, which is well sold up at our full quotations. The sales of raws include 3,000 hhds. Cuba, 71/2091/c.; 2,000 do. Centrifugal, 81/2091/c.; 194 St. Croix, 80.; 746 hhds. Porto Rico, 7% @8%c.; 144 do. There was not much animation during the early part of the current week, although some call was reported for refining grades, and there was a steady feeling noticeable among holders. The arrivals of Cuba molasses have been preity free, and there is a full stock in the market at present, the supply, deducting late sales, amounting to about 5,200 hhds. Foward the close there has been a hotter call, and we have had several sales. Prices remain about where they were last week, and are pretty well maintained. The call for grocery qualities is still somewhat limited, and the sales are not heavy in the aggre gata. The stocks as reported show 819 hhds Porto Rice and 987 do English Islands. Considerable business is doing in the way of small lots of domestic, and the stock has been reduced to 1,000 bbls, with prices closing strong and unchanged. The sales since cur last report have been 423 hhds. Cardenas clayed, 51%, 30c.; 279 hhds., 32 tcs. Cuba, 30%c.; 329 hhds, 30 tcs, 29%c.; 50 hads. Porto Rico, in lots within the range, and 200 bbls. # THE DRY GOODS TRADE.

FRIDAY, P. M., June 13, 1873.

As midsummer draws nearer the trade is continually becoming duller, and the market for nearly all textiles during the past week has been very quiet, with no essential changes to note in connection with any department. In the jobbing houses sales period, the light purchases of retailers earlier in the season rendering it necessary for them to buy more liberally now to meet the current wants of consumers. The season with jobbers has heen far from satisfactory, and it is said that but little money has been made. Hopes are entertained that the fall season may be more satisfactory, and it is reasonable to look for a more liberal distribution in view of the fact that consumers have bought sparingly for the past twelve months, and that stocks in the interior are everywhere small. Agents are doing very little at present, the only line in which there is the slightest activity being heavy weelens. The market is full of job offerings from second hands, and a considerable movement results, but these offerings are only made for the purpose of cleaning out old stock, and jobbers are not reasserting, so that what little activity there is does not turn to the immediate benefit of the commission houses. There is but little complaining about collections, though the stringency of money is felt materially throughout the trade.

DOMESTIC COTTON GOODS .- The demand for full packages of domestic cotton fabrics has been limited in the extreme, but stocks of the more staple fabrics being well under control, are held with a good degree of firmness. Purchasers of large lets could probably get easier terms, or some other equivalent to a concession in price, although holders show no inclination to press their stock at present. Jobbers continue to offer many inducements to the retail trade, and in this way are closing out stocks, so that the market will be well cleared of goods by the end of the season. Brown and bleached sheetings and shirtings have sold in a fair way, and are held at steady and unchanged prices by agents, while jobbers' quotations are still irregular. The call for colored cottons has been inactive, with the exception of a few choice styles of stripes and denims, which have realized full prices. Glazed cambrics have been reduced to 71c., and are dull at the decline. Prints are selling moderately in linen effects and polka styles, and the supply in first hands is well cleared out. Cloths are dull but steady at 6106tc. for standards and extras. There have been few changes in prints excepting in shirting styles, which are generally reduced. Lawns and percales are quiet, and some of the less popular marks are off a fraction.

DOMESTIC WOOLEN GOODS .- There has been a fairly active call for fancy cassimeres, medium and fine qualities of heavy weights, and the helders of these goods show considerable encouragement at the close. Clothiers are busily engaged in making up their fall stocks, and purchase freely, evidently feeling sate at the present prices. The lower grades of cassimeres have shown less animation and are dull at previous figures. The call for cloths and overcoatings is improving somewhat, and a very fair inquiry is reported for the more popular makes of beavers and Moscows. Chinchillas are in good request, and the market is fairly steady on all of these fabrics. The medium qualities are principally in request, but the inquiry is beginning to run to some extent upon the finer grades.

Foreign Goods.—The market continues dull, and sales are rather diminishing than improving, although in some lines of strictly summer goods there has been an improvement, resulting from the very warm weather. Importers are sending their goods freely to the auction houses in the attempt to clear out stocks, but to make sales in this way are forced to accept very unremunerative prices. There was but little real activity in any department, but there was a lively demand for black wool and silk and wool grenadines, which have been in short supply for some time. Fancy broche grenadines, on the other hand, have been in overstock, and have been sold nearly all the season at unremunerative prices. Fine and medium grades of black real mohairs have sold readily, but not in large quantities, and black French cashmeres and draps d'ete continued in request. Dress fabrics ruled exceedingly quiet, except in the case of a few specialties, such as plain colored Orleans cloths, balernes, plain broche and striped Japanese cloths of grey effects, chambrays, lawns and cretonnes, assortments of which are now incomplete. Fancy dress materials of nearly all descriptions have been very quiet, and there has been a pressure to sell at considerably less than importation cost. White goods have shown rather more animation, and there has been a fair demand for embroideries and laces. Llama and Mi-Llama lace points, jackets, &c., continued in brisk request, and are selling at fair prices. Shawls have ruled very quiet, and the distribution of cloths and cassimeres has been restricted to small parcels. Cotton and Balbriggan hose and half hose, and guaze, lisle tread and summer merino underwear were in improved request, and are firm in price.

We annex a few particulars of leading articles of domestic have been light, although fully equal to the average of this manufacture our prices quoted being those of leading jobbers:

Treasury of Georgia,

ATLANTA, May 25th, 1878.
THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY OF THE STATE OF GEORGIA, at the regular session in February last, ordered the issue of a sefficient quantity of new bonds bearing eight per ceut interest, payable half-yearly in April and October, to take up the outstanding bonds of the State which became due in 1872, as also those which mature in 1873. 1874 and 1875. These new bonds, dated 1st April, 1873, are of three sizes and mature (one hundred thousand dollars in each year) from 1875 to 1888 inclusive, as follows:

Bonds of $250 each falling due let April, 1875, 1876, 1877 and 1878.

Bonds of $500 each falling due 1st April, 1879, 1880, Bonds of $1,000 each falling due 1st April, 1883, 1884,

Holders of overdue bonds of the State can, there-Honers or overdue bonds of the State can, therefore, receive equal amounts of these new bonds on presentation of those payable in Georgia at the State Treasury in Atlanta, Georgia, and of those payable in New York at the Fourth National Bank in that city, or the Treasury in Atlanta, as most convenient for beneather.

When those payable in New York are presented at the Fourth National Bank for exchange, this Department wil be informed immediately of the amount, as also of the size and description of the bonds desired in return, which will be forwarded forthwith. When the exchange is made interest will be paid on the old bonds (at their rates) from maturity to 1st April. 1873. (the date of the new.) provided they are presented before the 1st July next, after which time interest at old rates will be paid to day of presentation, and deductions from first coupons of the new bonds made deductions from life coupons of the new bonds made from their date to day of presentation. No old bonds taken up with cash or currency notil the entire issue of new bonds is exhausted. The State, desiring to treat all her creditors equally, will not require some to exchange for bonds that others may be paid in eash,

JNO. JONES, Treasurer.

THE FUTURE OF GOLD AND THE MONEY MARKET.

The decline of gold is the chief topic of interest in Wall street, and vehement efforts have been made by the bulls as they gradually succumbed under the pressure of the load they had to carry. Several circumstances have combined to aid the development of this downward tendency. In the first place the payment of the called bonds makes gold more plentiful in the market; and the supply will be further increased by the payment of the July interest, which amounts to about 25 millions. Then the balance of trade is no longer against us, but by the slow operation of a multitude of causes is turning in our favor. By a special report, obtained by us from Mr. Edward Young, the chief of the Burcau of Statistics, we find that the imports at all ports for the first four months of this year were rather less than those of list year, while the exports were much ollows:

| IMPORTS   | AT ALL POF  | TS OF THE U   | NITED STATES, | JANUARY TO    | APRIL.        |
|-----------|-------------|---------------|---------------|---------------|---------------|
|           | 1873.       | 1872.         | 1871.         | 1870.         | 1869."        |
| January § | 555,391,908 | $51,983,088  | $41,406,336  | $37,084,717  | $30,112,634  |

By this we see that the import movement from Jan. to April was 232 millions against 234 millions for the same period last year. The belief is that for the months of May and June this decrease of our importation values has made the disparity still more between our foreign debt and the rapidity of its accumulation this year as compared with 1872. Turning to the other side of the account we find the foreign exports increasing. The returns for the first four months of the two last years compare as follows, the returns being in mixed values for this year and in gold values for the previous year:

* Paso del Norte not reported, † Gold valuation.

From these figures it is evident that the exports are on the increase, though the precise force of the causes we have adverted to cannot be exactly seen, as the figures for last year represent gold valuations, and those for the current year represent mixed valuations, the exports from the Pacific coast being estimated in gold, and those from other ports for the most part in currency. Still making due allowance for this, enough is shown to illustrate the progress and activity of our export trade, and the effect it must be producing on our foreign balances and on our indebtedness abroad.

To the influences hence arising must be added the export of our securities, which is going on at a rapid rate, one firm having exported, as we are assured, 25 millions of five-twenties since January, while the aggregate of our securities which have gone abroad this year of every description is estimated as high as 100 millions. It is not improbable that this estimate may be too high. But in any case there is abundant evidence that the speculators for an advance in gold, so far as they depend on our foreign exchanges, can draw but little encouragement from them.

Moreover, the question is asked why gold should rule higher now than a year ago? There is no change in our paper currency to justify the advance. Some reliance was placed on the issue of new greenbacks as a stimulant to the greater. The total imports are stated by Mr. Young as rise in gold, but this project is effectually demolished with all the hopes that were built upon it. As this and other causes of a rise in gold have been successively deprived of their power, the expectation seems to be that the tendency for the present may be rather in the direction of a lower premium, and that the recent advance should be ascribed in part to temporary influences which have ceased to operate.

This prospect of a decline in the price of gold will be also confirmed should the reduction in the rate of the Bank of England to 6 per cent be followed by a further decline to a lower point. In some quarters a belief in such a recession has been current ever since the publication of the fact that the Bank of France had agreed to lend in gold 200 millions of francs or $40,000,000 to the Government to complete the payment of the German indemnity. Although this coin should not be paid out this month, but is to be drawn out as-wanted, still the immense balance of gold coin which the Bank of France has held locked up since its suspension of specie payments has been made partly available for the purposes of the international exchanges. The knowledge of this availability is likely to have a reassuring influence on the policy of the Bank of England, and thus on our gold market.

On our money market, also, several of the above mentioned circumstances are having a good effect. Money is not only easier for present loans, but the fear of stringency in the fall is not so general or so pervading as it was some time ago. Still it behoves both our bankers and our merchants to be cautious, and from the general prudence which prevails, a thoughtful observer will deduce some of his best reasons for thinking that the much dreaded fail stringency will be averted, or at least will be kept within narrower limits than during the past year or two.

CURRENCY RELAXATION IN THE BANK OF ENGLAND.

It appears that England is about to relax the "steel-bound rigidity" which has been so much complained of in her financial system. At least Mr. Lowe, the Chancellor of the Exchequer, recommends a change; and though the Gladstone government is no t so powerful as it has been, still a Caoinet measure of such importance will not probably be rejected by Parliament, especially as its rejection would inevitably precipitate a dissolution. Mr. Lowe's proposition is to give to the Bank of England the authority to issue in times of financial pressure, notes uncovered by coin, in excess of those allowed by the act of 1844. That statute allows the bank to issue 15 millions sterling of such notes. Mr. Lowe wants to increase the sum, in certain contingencies, to 21 millions. He would thus add 6 millions sterling of uncovered notes to the circulation. Several questions of some moment to us arise out of this proposition.

The first is whether it is likely to be adopted. For the reasons above suggested, it with probably find favor with Parliament, except it be voluntarily w. thdrawn, which is not probable. The government has spent several months in contriving and maturing this scheme, and will decide, no doubt, to stand or fall by it. Although, therefore, the Loudon Times, which has shown a recent disposition to carp at Mr. Lowe, vehemently assails the scheme, it will perhaps get itself established, like numerous other great changes which have been successful though opposed by that journal with all

As to the question whether Mr. Lowe's plan will be of real service for the purpose intended, it is a difficult one to answer. That purpose is to give elasticity to the English currency. It is familiarly known that the volume of bank notes in England has its tidal ebbing and rising just like ours, though the changes do not happen at the same time as ours, nor are they so irregular or so extensive. Their general result is that from two to five millions of notes or | gold may be drained out of the bank temperarily three or four times a year to make country payments, and after a fort night or three weeks this currency all returns to the bank again. On each occasion the two to five millions of supernumerary currency is outstanding but two or three weeks at the utmost.

There is nothing more in this rise and fall in the tide of the British currency than a wholesome movement, as impatient of resistance as the tides of ocean, and as beneficial to the industrial organism as is the circulation of the blood to the busy mechanism of the human frame. Now, for thirty years it has been a standing complaint against the bank law of 7 and 8 Vict., that it hindered this tidal movement by its "cast iron" restrictions. Much, perhaps, is not true that has been said against the act in this respect. It is certainly guilty, however, of the defect that it makes no provision for this two to five millions of occasional elasticity in the volume of the currency, and sometimes the act works so as to oppose this elasticity. If the bank have plenty of gold in its banking reserve, there is nothing in the act to oppose the issue of two millions or four millions of extra notes, if it appears that the notes are wanted, and if one hundred sovereigns can be transferred from the banking department to the currency department for every £100 note that is issued. Thus, so long as the bullion reserve of the bank is large, the act offers no opposition whatever to the issue of as much bank currency as may be necessary to keep up its equilibrium and give to its movements all needful elasticity. The friction never occurs, and the restriction of the Act is never felt on the currency of the Bank of England till that institution allows its banking reserve to sink to so low a point as to be inadequate.

This being the nature of the trouble which Mr. Lowe wants to cure he might evidently go about it in either of two ways. First, by trying to keep up the gold reserve to so high a level that it should not be so depleted by any ordinary drain, as to forbid the issue of two to five millions of currency without violating the act. It is obvious that if the coin reserve of the Bank of England were as large as that which for many years has been kept by the Bank of France there would always be an ample gold balance uncovered by notes, and the law of 1844 would never interpose its veto as the seasons came round for the issue of three or tour millions of this temporary subordinate circulation. There being at all moments a surplus reserve of gold, notes could be issued upon it, of course.

This radical remedy for the evil is not that which Mr. Lowe has ventured to recommend. But he proposes in certain emergencies to allow the bank to issue more notes than are now allowed without depositing gold for them. The crisis being temporary which requires the notes, their issue is also to be temporary. And as these extra notes are redeemable at the bank counter it is argued that they cannot be kept out a single day beyond the duration of the emergency which gives them birth: If so there would be no permanent inflation of prices, nor any stimulus to specufrom these notes, for the simple reason that they cannot be kept ... float long enough, but they will return promptly for redemption so long as they are redeemable in coin.

It is clear that if this nower of specie redemption be verified, if the new notes prove thus obedient to the attraction of specie and eagerly hasten back again for redemption, there will be a powerful force in operation to proclude expansion and speculative inflation of the currency. The presence of the notes being temporary, their effect will be tem. porary, too; and the new bank currency, like surplus farm ing stock which has served its season, will be stowed away till again wanted. It will be buried in the recesses of the bank vaults till the next tidal change resuscitates it and calls it into new activity andli fe. But can such an automatic tidal return of the currency i to bank he relied on? Of course this is the essential question. Mr. Lowe and his advisers seem confident about it, but their opinion is disputed on grounds which will, some of them, have little interest for our readers.

At first sight it might be supposed that the proposition of Mr. Lowe is substantially the same as that made by our Secretary of the Treasury to issue 44 millions of greenbacks, which some time ago provoked the most vehement opposition. But the supposition would be a mistake. There is no analogy whatever between the two cases. Mr. Lowe does not propose to emit Government notes, like our greenbacks; nor does he propose to allow issues of irredeemable paper under any condition of for any purpose. What he proposes is to allow the bank to issue its own notes redeeniable on demand to a small amount, for a temporary emergency, and with the certainty of having all this new issue of notes returned in a few days for redemption. With these safeguards, and holding the bank responsible from first to last, it is obvious that Mr. Lowe's proposition is wholly different from that of Mr. Richardson, who wanted to make a permanent issue of Government notes, wholly irredeemable, having a forced circulation, and imparting no elasticity to the currency whatever, but fastening upon it t he old evils of inflation in a new and more inveterate form. - We may mention, also, this further difference; that Parliament has the power to do what Mr. Lowe asks. permission he would confer on the Bank of England is clearly within the constitutional powers held by Parliament; while the power which Mr. Richardson claimed, of issuing paper money, is not confided under the Constitution of the United States either to the Secretary of the Treasury, or to any other officer of our Government. The authority to issue irredeemable paper is withheld even from Congress, except as a war power, put forth for war purposes, and in time of

The panic of 1857, as is well known, was precipitated by the failure of the Ohio Life & Trust Company, but the true causes of the revulsion were at the time believed to be over expansion of the banks and insufficient cash reserves. In accordance with this view it was argued that if the New York Clearing House would adopt a rule pledging the banks of this city to keep 25 per cent of cash reserves, verified by weekly statements published in the newspapers, to show the exact position of each individual bank, that no similar overexpansion would be possible, and no serious panic of this sort would ever occur again. This suggestion as to the causes of the trouble prevailed, the plan was adopted, and from that day to the present, with little modification, the rule has been kept up that all banks in the Clearing House shall hold a cash reserve equal to one-fourth of their liabili. ties for deposits and circulation. The results of the plan have equalled the most sanguine anticipations. But after fifteen or sixteen years of success'ul trial a few of the banks are becoming restless and are said to be agitating in favor of a relaxation of this wholesome rule. They profess to think that one-fourth is too large a part of the assets of a bank to be held passive, for the mere purpose of guaranteeing the safety of the other three-fourths, and they proceed to attack the national banking law, which, when it was passd in 1863 and 1864, adopted this rigid requirement of ample reserves, and extended it to the banks of the whole country, making the distinction that in New York and in the other central cities the banks should hold a reserve of 25 per cent, while the banks in other places should hold but 15 per cent.

This reserve provision of the national banking law the agitators are anxious to repeal, and they contend that without any such legal enforcement a prudent banker will keep all the year round a sufficient reserve, so that such laws are needless. Unfortunately, however, for this argument, it is too notorious that all bankers are not "prudent." Like all other men, they are liable to be tempted to imprudence And it is because the panie of and over expansion. 1857 showed this fact that the temptation was met by the stable, settled safeguard of a permanent reserve. For as the old adage says, "laws are made not to trust to what men will do, but to guard against what they may do." The laws enforcing reserves were instituted not because we trust that bankers will be prudent, but because we wish to guard against their being imprudent. Bad banking is like incendiarism. It must be put down and prevented, or we can never be safe. A general conflagration like that of 1857 might start at almost any critical moment if proper safeguards were not raised up by acciety for protection against it.

But why, we are asked, should balls asserve? Wherein consists the necessity for it? we are asked, should banks hold so much reserve? necessity lies in the function the reserve has to perform in the banking economy. It is the proper office of a bank to hold immense sums of other people's capital, which it is bound to pay on demand. If a bank were to lend out all or nearly all its funds, s) as to leave too small an amount of cash in its vault, how could it respond to all possible demands? Good banking requires, then, that an adequate sum be kept so as not only to meet promptly every demand upon it but be always ready to meet these demands without making undue pressure. Hence it is that during the recent stringency the public auxiety about the banks rose and fell with the waning or rising strength of their published reserves. It was not an imaginary terror on the part of the public that led to the watchful scrutiny of the bank reserves as they were published every week. It was rather the conviction, derived from experience, that low reserves cause pressure and foretoken danger.

The reserves are the reservoir of our banking system. We all remember the public anxiety which has been awakened on several memorable occasions when the reservoirs of our Croton water distribution have been threatened or seemed inedequate, and in every modern city of large population vast sums of money have always been voted without stint for rendering such reservoirs adequate, so that there might be no danger to the community of an interruption of the supply at any critical moment. Now, as the supply of water is a cardinal necessity in our social economy, so is the supply of capital an urgent want of our industrial life. The bank reserves are just as needful for the one as is the reservoir for the other. Both have the function of keeping the supply steady and enabling it to meet any special demand, however urgent, when a failure would work disaster.

By such reasons, as well as by many others, the public apprehension is justified, which never fails to make itself conspicuous, whensoever the bank reserves fall short, or appear to be growing weak at a time in which they are required to be especially strong. We need not dwell longer upon this, however, as our object is rather to point out the lessons it suggests with a view to the prevention of panies. Such financial catastrophes used to be very frequent in this country, and some persons among us of no mean reputation for sagacity and experience have been predicting a panie every year since the outbreak of the war. The prediction has not been fulfilled, and the long expected financial trouble appears now to be capable of being deferred to an indefinite period in the future, if only proper means be taken to arrest it. What are these means? And how shall we go about the work of putting them in action?

We must beware of supposing that there is any single panacea which we can use for this purpose. Panies, like diseases of the body, are of various kinds, and require different medication. There are three great classes of panics, which are known from the part of the financial organism in which they start, or receive their origin. First, they may begin from currency troubles. It the current money of any commercial country suffers derangement of a vital character, a panic is not a ldom the result. Of this sort were many of our panies in the heyday of the State bank frauds which have perpetuated themselves in the soubriquets of "stump tail and wild-cat banking." Secondly, a panie may start from a gen-ral failure of public confidence, such as happened in England in 1866, and this species of panic, as experience shows, has a difficult and slow recovery. Thirdly, a panic may originate in a lack of firsting capital so that the supply of funds in the loan market falls below the demand. The panic of 1847, in England, was of this sort, and was ascribed chiefly to the excessive absorption of floating capital in the construction of railways and other permanent and partly unproductive works for several years previous to that time.

Such are the three general causes, from one or more of which every panic recorded in financial history may be directly or indirectly traced, and we need not say that though one of these causes is nearly always predominant in every panic, and gives it its special character, still the other causes are also not seldom concurrent, and more or less combine in the bringing on of the catastrophe.

From this summary it is easy to see what are the general principles on which the prevention of panics must be conducted. First, the currency must as far as possible he kept from fluctuation either in amount or value; secondly, public confidence must be kept up by a sound and well conducted backing and financial system, and by other appropriate means; thirdly, we must prevent the over-absorption of floating into fixed capital, which is one form of the too prevalent malady that we call "over-expansion." How closely every one of these preventives of panic is connected with the keeping of ample reserves by our banks is too plain to need illustration. It would be presumptuous to pretend that if our banks keep abundant reserves they will render every kind of panie an absolute impossibility. What they will do is to shut up all the widest avenues through which panie usually enters.

CURRENT TOPICS.

REVIVAL OF FRENCH COMMERCE.—The returns of French commerce for the fiscal quarter of the current year, as compiled from official statutes by the Douane not only compare favorably with all that have preceded them, but make a showing of totals in excess of those for the first quarter of the year 1866, celebrated as the most prosperous on record. The total value of imports for the quarter, as compared with the corresponding periods of 1872 and 1870, is as follows:

| 1878 | * | 776 576,0001. |
|------|---------------------------|---------------|
| 1873 | *             | 927.160.0 Of. |
| 1870 | *  | 783,135,000f. |

This diminution of imports, as compared with last year, is attributable to the abundance of the French harvests, as the value of food imports for the quarter has fallen from 2:4,000,000f. in 1872 to 170,000,000f. in 1873. The export returns are also very satisfactory, as will be seen from the following totals:

| 1873  | ٠. |    |  |    | ٠. |   |  |  |  |  |  |  |      |  |  |      | 971,982,000f. |
|-------|--------|----|--|----|----|---|--|--|--|------|--|--|------|------|--|------|-------------------|
| 1871. |        |    |  |    |    |   |  |  |  |      |  |  |      |      |  |  | 860.799.000r  |
| 1870. |        | ٠. |  | ٠. |    | ٠ |  |  |  |      |  |  |  |      |  |  | 750,414,0001. |

The total of exports for 1873 exceeds that of the corresponding period of 1866 by about 100,000,000f. Comparing the quarter of the current year with that of 1872, we find a large increase under each division of the returns, but it is in natural products and naw materials that the excessis most striking, as will be seen from the following shewing of totals in millions of fraces:

| Manufactured articles | Mills. of france. | Mills. of france. |

The development of manufactures is due principally to the progress made in woolen and cotton manufacture, gold and silver work, articles of fashion, glass, wine, and refined sugar; while that in natural productions is due to the ubundance of the last harvest. The large yield of farm products permitted the exportation of grain and flour to the value of 115,000,000 francs, while for the first quarter of the year 1866, the value of these commodities exported was only 77,000,000 francs. These statistics show that France is rapidly recovering from the prostrating effects of the war, and even warrant the conclusion that the nation is entering upon the enjoyment of a more general and regularly developed prosperity than it has ever before enjoyed.

THE COAL RESOURCES OF THE UNITED STATES.—The extent and general distribution of our coal measures is for obvious reasons a subject of universal interest. Present wants and uses are no indication of what the future demand will be. At no distant day it is likely that we shall be called upon to export largely from those coal producing districts nesrest the seaboard. It is only lately, however, that the extent and value of our coal supply has been understood and appreciated even in this country. We have, as yet, no exact survey to show how much we have in reserve; but from the most careful and trustworthy estimates, it appears that we have of known fields an area of not less than 230,000 squaremiles. The geographical distribution of this is about as shown in the following table:

The above includes the seven principal coal areas of the country. The eighth, of which comparatively little is known, lies within what is known as the Rocky Mountain Region, and consists chiefly of beds of soft hintuminous coal and lignites, which are already coming into general use, and which, in a country naturally deficient in wood, have a great and constantly increasing value. With these resources of fuel, and the many fields of future production yet undiscovered, we can sustain the greatest possible individual development for many centuries to come, while the geographical distribution of our coal basins is such that, when increased transportation facilities shall have established a more intimate intercommunication between the states, no combination of mine owners and carriers will long be able to deprive any part of the country of the advantages of a cheap and abundant supply.

CO-OPERATION IN GREAT BRITAIN .- An interesting blue book has lately been issued in England, giving statistics of co operative associations in Great Britsian and Ireland, which are interesting. In the northern and middle counties of England, co-operative societies are numerous and strong, but in the southern counties the movement cannot be said to have met with public favor to any extent. The returns made to Parliament are incomplete in some respect, but they report 746 societies in existence at the beginning of 1872, doing a business of £9,439,471 per annum, upon a capital of £2,521,000, and netting an aggregate profit of £800,000. The most remarkable feature of the movement is the anccess of the wholesale co-operation ators at Manchester. That establishment has 277 branch societies, composed of shareholders in d fferent localities; its capital is £140,000, and its business £1,250,000. It has more or less intimate business connections with nearly all the co-operative retail stores in the United Kingdom, furnishing them with supplies at prices a trifle under the average market quotetions. During the past eight years it has done a business of £4,000,000, and during that time has lost only £300 from bad debts. This, we think, gives a clue to the success of the move-The co-operative stores give no credit beyond the amounts for which they have ample security in the subscriptions of the stockholders, and for this reason they succeed in spite of the disadvantages of a system of mismanagement which divides the responsibility between paid agents and stockholders' committees, enabling them to maintain a successful competition with stores owned by individuals and private firms.

THE CANADA PACIFIC RAILWAY .- A prospectus of the Canada Pscific Railway, just issued for circulation among London capitalists, is st. ted to reveal a number of "jobs" in connection with the scheme, w. tich cannot be altogether satisfactory to the people of Canada. It appears, for example, that the company have received the pledge of sixty millions of acres of public lands along the line of the 1 ad. According to the report of Prof. Hind, who some years ago made an exploration and survey of the public lands of the Northwest provinces, the total area of land available for settlement and cu. tivation, does not exceed sixty millions of acres; and if the estimate is correct, the Government proposes to give the company all that remains of the public domain of the Northwest, with the extraordinary provision, not yet confirmed by Parliament, that the remaining land, if there be any, shall be sold for not less than $2 50 per acre. The object of this provision is to protect the company against competition, and enable it to count its land among its assets at $150,000,000. The Government further binds itself to extinguish the Indian title, and to put the company in possession of its 60 millions acres within eight years. What this promise involves no one seems to know or care, but from past experience it is safe to conclude that the extinguishment of Indian titles to all the available lands of the Northwest, will not be easily or chencly accomplished. Besides this, the company are to have a thirty million dollar cash subsidy, the disposition of which lests with a board of trustees, vested, it would seem, with very unusual powers. As they are responsible, by the terms of the charter, only to the stockholders and bondholders, the government has nothing to say respecting the operations of the company or the management of the road; and in the event of collueion between the two trustees, appointed respectively by the stockholders and bondholders, there will be unlimited opportunity for furthering the interests of the company at the expense of the public interest, as well as for jobbery and corruption. In the case of the Intercolonial Railway, it will be remembered, the company's engineers, by certifying according to instructions and not according to mensurements, succeeded in defrauding the public treasury to a considerable amount; and for one chance to etesl a dollar in the Intercolonial enterprise there will be a dozen chances to steal a thousand in the Canaoa Pacific. The company, on the other hand, are pledged to conditions with which they cannot possibly comply, and which, it is now claimed, they only agree to in the hope of influencing more liberal private subscriptions. They promise, among other things, to complete their road within eight years. Considering the nature of the country traversed, the difficulties to be overcome, and the amount of labor required, which the country, thinly settled as it is, cannot furnish without causing a serious drain upon all other enterprises and branches of industry, from which labor could be attracted only by the inducement of high wages, it is evident that the company's promise is based upon no very accurate calculation, except as to the probabilities of securing an extension of time without incurring a rule of forfeiture of franchises and benefits. As to the utility of the work, when completed, there seems to be differences of opinion, even in Canada. The Toronto Globe expresses the sentiments of those opposed to the undertaking as needless, or, at least, premnture, in the following language: "When completed, it will end nowhere. The Pacific Railway of the United States has the carrying trade of a rich country at each of its termini, besides the transcontinental trade between Europe, on the one hand, and China, Japan, and Australia on the other. It has large and wealthy cities, and interminable railway connec tions East and West. It was a stupendous undertaking, even for that wealthy country. But here is a line of greater length, that ls to end amidst the small copulation of British Columbia, without any steamboat connections with the rest of the Pacific world. If we did not know that there were knaves in the undertaking, we should say that every one connected with it was a madman." This may be considered rather too forcible language, but it would seem that there is a good deal of truth in the Globe's comments on the character and purports of the undertaking.

DELAWARE SHORE RA, LROAD.—The prospects for building this line, it is asserted, are favorable. The Board of Commissioners, previous to opening books for the subscription of stock, elected Hon. Samuel Hookins president. On the arst day, when the Board met at Panishoro', the subscriptions amounted to $20,000°, at Refugerory $20,000°. the Board met at Panishoro', the subscriptions amounted to $20,000; at Bridgeport, $8.000; at Pennsgrove, $14,000. To these there have since been added subscriptions which will reach, in the aggregate, $50.000—sufficient to enable the company to organize. A meeting of the stockholders to the purpose of organization will be held at Bridgeport on the 2d the completion of the organization engineers will the field for the survey of the route. From the shown in the subscriptions the strongest hopes are extertained that the road will be constructed.

BAILROIDS OF CONNECTICUT.

The Twentieth Annual Report of the General Railroad Commissioners of the State of Connecticut, presented to the General Assembly at their May Session, is now ready for distribution. It is refreshing to witness the promptness with which this valuable annual has made its appearance; and more especially so, when contrasted with the long delays of like reports from the State authorities of New York, Pennsylvania, Michlgan, &c. In this respect, indeed, Connecticut is only second to Massachusetts, and in very many of its features shows equal skill in its preparation.

The reports of the several railroad companies for the year 1872 are made up in accordance with the amended law passed at the previous session of the Legislature. This law fixed the 30th September as the date of the close of the year of all the companies of the State. The close of the old official year was the 31st of December. This report, however, is made for a full year.

In the present volume returns are given from twenty-two companies, having their roads wholly or in part within the State, representing in all 1,268 miles. Of this length 105 miles were at date unfinished, leaving 1,163 miles in operation, of which, however, only 868 miles are within the State limits. This gives an average of one mile of railroad to every 5:38 square miles of territory and to every 620 inhabitants.

The whole capital stock reported is $41,344,550, and the paid capital at $35,460,118. Increase of paid capital since December 31, 1871, $4,468,673. About 35 per cent. of the total capital, and about 44 per cent. of paid capital is owned and held in the State. The number of stockholders in Connecticut is 4,005, holding an average of $3,943 each. The capital stock of the Boston, Hartford & Erie Railroad, not having been reported, is not included in this category. The amount of funded and floating debts is $43,273,493. The whole cost of railroads and equipments, or the permanent investment, is $74,074,037, or an average per mile of $58,464, the highest being the New Haven, Middletown & Willimantic (single track), $106,401, and the next highest the New York, New Haven & Hartford (double track steel), $105,394.

The report shows a large addition to the rolling stock. number of locomotive engines has increased from 243 to 247, passenger cars from 311 to 335, and merchandize cars from 4,041 to 4,705. The number of men employed on the several railroads is 6,506, or on average of 6.4 to each mile in operation. Construction hands are not here included.

The increase in traffic is considerable. Trains run 5,679,594 miles, being an increase of 585,312 miles; passengers numbered 10,134,633, an increase of 625,814; and merchandize amounted to 3,162,473 tons, an increase of 440,242 tons.

The cost of operating

10,134,633, an increase of 625,814; and merchandize amounted to 3,162,473 tons, an increase of 440,242 tons. The cost of operating was $7,489,521, or about 66 per cent. of the gross earnings.

The gross earnings for the year amounted to $11,368,425, or about 25 per cent. of the capital stock, and 11 per cent. of the cost of roads and equipments. Gross earnings over last year $771,361. Average $9,767, and nott $2,319 per mile.

Dividends were paid by ten corporations, amounting to $2,271,-143, being 64 per cent. on all paid capital, or 3 per cent. on cost of roads, &c. This amount is also 7.9 per cent. on the paid capital of the ten dividend-paying companies.

The average fare per passenger per mile was 2.61 cents, and the average freight per ton per mile 4.50 cents.

The Commissioners give a table of all accidents that have occurred on the railroads, year by year, for twenty years, and the number of travelers on said railroads. During this term of years 97,801,538 individuals were carried in the cars. The number of accidents was in the same years 1,117, of which 611 were fatal and 501 not fatal. This gives an average of one accident among 87.557 travelers, of which 55.6 per cent. were fatal and 54.4 per cent. not fatal. The heaviest years for accidents were 1864 and 1865, in which the accidents numbered 119 and 135 respectively, and their relation to travelers was one to 40.441 and 38.602. That there has been a great reduction of accidents, whether fatal or out is contacted to the contacted the contacted the contacted there has been a great reduction of accidents, whether fatal or out is contacted to the contacted the contacted the contacted the contacted the contacted the contacted the contacted the contacted there has been a great reduction of accidents, whether fatal contacted the contacted the contacted the contacted the contacted the contacted the contacted the contacted the contacted the contacted the contacted the contacted the contacted the contacted the contacted the contacted the contacted the contact there has been a great reduction of accidents, whether fatal not, is very evident from the above statement, and also from the additional fact that the number of accidents in 1853 (20 years ago) averaged one in every 78,644 travelers, while in 1872 the average was only one in every 119 230. There can be no doubt that this improvement is due to the strict police regulations now enforced.

STATISTICAL RETURNS OF THE RAILROADS OF THE STATE OFICONNECTICUT.

i From our own correspondent. i

LONDON, Saturday, June 7, 1873.

On Wednesday the directors of the Bank of England advanced their minimum rate of discount to 7 per cent, and the Bank return issued on Thursday shows clearly that the authorities possessed no alternative but to adopt that course. The proportion of reserve to liabilities is now only about 314 per cent; the demand for currency for home purposes having been very considerable during the week. There has also been a strong demand for discount, the increase in "other securities" being as much as £1,653,092. It is evident, therefore, that the state of our money market will now attract considerable attention, and some anxiety is felt respecting the effect which 7 per cent will have upon the exchanges. Six per cent accomplished little or nothing, for the simple reason that the Continental and American market were dearer than our own; but as the demand for money in Europe is now very great, and in Germany is urgent, it is more than probable that the price of money abroad will be quickly raised. In that case our relative positions will be the same, and the probability will be that a further increase in the rates will be necessary. It is clear, however, that our present position is owing to the indemnity payments and the panic in Germany. It was natural that as our money market was cheaper than those abroad, resort should, in a time of pressure, be had to it, and hence the somewhat rapid upward movement. The indemity payments will soon, however, have been completed, and as the panic in Germany can, only be transient, it is probable that dear money will not be of long duration. So iar as this country is concerned, there is no doubt that extreme caution has for some time past been observed in commercial circles, and that our position is a sound one; and possibly the only operation calculated to cause us any difficulty will be the bolstering up of Continental firms by houses here with whom they have large transactions. The whole of the existing difficulties are clearly in financial affairs, and are not in trade, the locking up of so large an amount of kold by the German Government for so long a period, and also of a large quantity by the Bank of France, having produced a scarcity of readily available supplies.

The demand for money throughout the week has been active, and in the open market scarcely any accommodation has been obtainable under the Bank rate. The supply seeking employment is moderately extensive. Annexed are the quotations:

The importations of bar gold have been absorbed by the German demand; but the sovereigns which have been returned from Egypt have been sent into the Bank. The Smila is due at Southampton on the 15th inst., with £322,710 in Australian gold and Australian sovereigns and in English sovereigns. Silver has been in fair demand for the Continent, and is rather dearer; and as much as £322,000 in Mexican dollars has been forwarded to China and the Straits during the week. The following prices of bullion are from the circular of Messrs. Pixley, Abell, Langley & Blake:

The stock markets have been partially interrupted by the holidays, and a dull tone has been produced by the rise in money and by the unfavorable Bank return. The depression existing, however, has not been great, and United States Government securities have been firm. As regards these, only the advance which had been established has been lost. Erie shares have declined on selling orders from Germany, and Atlantic & Great Western Railway stocks are weaker from a similar cause. French stocks, however, are firm, and are now quoted at 6 to 61, prem.; but Spanish are dull, owing to the unsettled condition of the country and of the linances. British railway shares are weaker, not only in consequence of dearer money, but because the time for the dividend announcements is approaching, and smaller distributions are anticipated, owing to the largely augmented working expenses. The following were the closing prices of consols and the principal United States securities this afternoon:

There has been a change in the weather, and the final break up of winter appears to have occurred with a heavy fall of hail. For some time past, while the days have been bright, the nights have been cold, and, consequently, vegetation has not made so much progress as might have been expected. This week there has been a heavy fall of rain, and some parts of the country have been visited with heavy hail storms, which have done consider able damage. The temperature, however, is much warmer, and the growth of vegetation has been rapid. The season is still backward, and though the prospect is, on the whole, considered to be favorable, it is difficult at present to form any trustworthy opinion respecting it. A large yield of wheat, or even an average, is not looked forward to; but the crops of grass, roots, and spring corn wi'l probably be abundant. The corn trade during the week has been wanting in animation; but as it will be a long time before supplies of the new crop will be available, the holders of all good and fine qualities of produce are firm in their demands. There is no alteration to notice in the value of any kind of grain.

The following figures show the imports and exports of cereal produce into and from the United Kingdom since harvest, viz.: from September 1 to the close of last week, compared with the corresponding periods in the three previous years:

The Board of Trade returns were issued to-day, and they refer to the trade of the Kingdom in May and during the five mouths ending May 31. The declared value of our exports in May was £22,007,082, against £20,771,303 last year, and £19,359,880 in 1871, while for the five months it amounted to £106,326,474, against £99,380,183 and £84,187,927 in 1872 and 1871, respectively. It will be perceived, therefore, that this year's trade, so far as value is concerned, is £7,000,000 greater than that of last year. The value of our importations in May was £34,399,206, against £28,297,453 and £24,219,209; and in the five months £151,712,830, against £145,814,203 last year and £130,406,624 in 1871.

The following figures relate to the five months ending May 31.

track running from the west bank of the Mississippi River, was sold for $200,000. The third section, from Donaldsonville to the Sabine River, partly completed, brought $50,000; and the fourth section, from the Sabine River to Houston, Texas, not built, was struck down for $1,500. There were also sold 62,000 ties for $16,000. Mr. Kellogg, as trustee far the State, filed in the United States Circuit Court to-day an application for an injunction to prevent the sale, but it was denied. The city authorities of New Orleans also made a formal per test on the ground that of N:w Orleans also made a formal protest, on the ground that some of the property belonged to the city. Besides these attempts to prevent the salo, an unsuccessful effort was made to force the road into bankruptcy."

INVESTMENT BONDS.

The Northern Pacific Railroad Company having determined to close its 7-30 First Mortgage Gold Loan at an aggregate not exceeding thirty million dollars, and thereafter to pay no higher rate of interest than 6 per cent. on further issues of its bonds, the limited remainder of the 7 3-10 loan is now being disposed of through the usual agencies.

As the honds of this issue are made receivable in payment for the Company's lands at 1.10, they are in constant and increasing demand for this purpose, and will continue to be after the lean ie closed-a fact which much enhances their value and attractiveness as an investment.

The Company now has more than 500 miles of its road built and in operation, including the entire Eastern Division connectiog Lake Superior and the navigation of the Missouri River; it has earned title to nearly ten million acres of its land grant, and sales of lands have thus far averaged $5 66 per acre.

All marketable securities are received in exchange for Northern

FRIDAY, June 20, 1873-7 P. M.

The Woney Market and Financial Situation.—The financial markets have been very quiet this week, and the principal events worthy of notice have been the decline in gold, with the natural effect of unsettling the prices of governments; the weakness in stocks; and the further increase of £993,000 in the bullion of the Bank of England, as reported yesterday by cable. In regard to railroad affairs we should also mention the change of presidency in the Chicago & Northwestern Company, and the death of Mr. Horace F. Clark, President of the Union Pacific and of the Lake Shore & Michigan Southern Companies.

Our call loan market has continued very easy, at 4 to 5 per cent., with the exception of some irregularity on Wednesday and Thursday, when rates were advanced temporarily to 6 and 7 per cent. To-day the rates were generally easy, at the above quotations, 4 and 5 per cent,

In commercial paper business has been moderate, on a basis of 6½@7 per cent for choice grades, the former quotation being rather exceptional and only applicable to genuine "gilt-edged." There is no pressure of paper on the market, and the ready demand for all good paper which has prevailed for more than a month past, apparently shows a feeling of much confidence in the financial soundness of mercantile borrowers.

The cable dispatches of yesterday announced a further large increase this week of £993,000 in the bullion of the Bank of England, the discount rate remaining unchanged at 6 per cent. It would thus appear that the reduction last week of 1 per cent in the discount rate was fully warranted. The Bank of France shows an increase in a secie of 383,000 francs.

The last weekly Clearing-house statement of New York city banks, rendered June 14, showed an increase of $1,155,825 in the excess of reserves above the legal requirement, the whole of such excess being $11,971,150. The total liabilities stood at $245,573,800, and the total reserves at $73,364,600.

The following table shows the changes from previous week and a comparison with 1872 and 1871:

United States Bonds.— The principal point noticeable in regard to Governmente is the slight weakness in prices caused by the decline in sold. This variation in gold prices affects particularly the foreign purchasers, who have been for a long time past the chief support of the market. They are still ready purchasers wherever bonds are offered at a satisfactory gold price, but the fluctuations in gold have naturally produced an irregularity and a material difference between the views of holders and buyers, which has been very clearly shown in the wide variation between prices "bid" and "asked" on the quotation lists.

a material difference between the views of holders and buyers, which has been very clearly shown in the wide variation between prices "bid" and "asked" on the quotation lists.

It has been repeatedly rumored this week that Secretary Richardson would resign from the Treasury in July, proximo, and take a position in an American banking house at Paris; the report, however, has not yet been substantiated.

At the Treasury purchase of $500,000 bonds, on Wednesday, the total offerings were $991.000.

Closing prices daily have been as follows.

State and Ratiroad Bonds.—There has been little activity in State bonds, and business at the Board has been chiefly limited to a few transactions in Tennessees, Virginias, South Carolinas and North Carolinas. There has been considerable interest shown in regard to the special tax bonds of the latter State on account of the meeting of bondholders held in this city, at which an onioion of Hou. Reverdy Johnson, of Baltimore, was read. The point of law discussed by Mr. Johnson is of great interest—namely, the right of bondholders to compel the appropriation of money collected on a special tax to the payment of interest on their bonds, for which purpose the tax was originally levied.

It must be remembered that Mr. Johnson is the counsel for the bondholders, and is writing an opinion in their interests; but cannot be such as a such as a contract of a State, which she, in justice, should receive a literal and not a liberal interpretation. When a citizen, then, holds a contract of a State, which she, in justice, should receive a literal and not a liberal interpretation. When a citizen, then, holds a contract of a State, which she, in justice, should receive a literal and not a liberal interpretation. When a citizen, then, holds a contract of a State, which she, in justice, should fulfill, if there be any remedy left open to the citizen without clearly transcending the restriction, it should be allowed him. * * * * * Having already stated that the act of the State of March 8, 1870, repealing the prior acts under which the bonds were given and the sections of such laws providing for the special taxes, is, in my opinion, unconstitutional, those laws are still in force, and those sections which make it the duty of the State to levy the tax are also in force.

It must be remembered that Mr. Johnson is the counsel for the bondholders, and is writing an opinion in their interests; but even keeping this in mind, the views of so prominent a lawyer on this important subject have a general interest and we quote from the opinion below. After stating that the facts show the bonds to have been regular in form and legally issued, and that the State as a private party to a contract would be bound to pay them, Mr. Johnson proceeds to answer the important question as to whether the holders are without remedy by reason of the U. S. Constitutional provision (in the 11th amendment) that a State cannot be sued in the U. S. Courts by citizens of other States or countries. The opinion says:

State to levy the tax are also in force,

"Have not the holders of the bonds, who are citizens of other States than North Carolina and of foreign States, a right to a proceeding by mandamus to compel the officers of the State to levy the taxes? In such a proceeding North Carolina would not be a party on the record, and could not, therefore, according to the decision in 9 Wheaton, claim exemption under the constitutional amendment. There being, then, no constitutional difficulty, the next question is, Fifth—Is mandamus the proper remedy?

"That it would be a proper remedy, if the sections providing for such taxes are in iorce, there can be no doubt. And although what those sections do is virtually to supply a remedy for the recovery of the interest on the bonds, it is as much beyond the power of the Legislature to take it away as it is to annul the bonds themselves. * *

bonds themselves. * * * *

"That the remedy in a case like the present is a writ of mandamus has been held by the Supreme Court in several cases, as in Knox vs. Aspinwall, 21 Howard, 539; Supervisors vs. United States, 4 Wal., 435; Supervisors vs. Schenck, 5 Wal., 784; Walkley vs. City of Muscatine, 6 Wal., 481. In each of those cases the party defendant was compelled by mandamus to levy and collect taxes to meet the amounts due the plaintiff.

"In conclusion, then, my opinion is that the bonds in question

"In conclusion, then, my opinion is that the bonds in question are obligatory upon the State of North Carolina; that her proper officers are bound to levy the annual tax provided for to meet the interest; and that the holders of the bonus, who are not citizens of the State, may compel them to do so by a writ of mandamus from the Circuit Court of the United States for the district of that State."

Railroad bonds have been without special feature of importance and business at the Boards was well distributed among numerous

Railroad and Miscellaneous Stocks.—The business to stocks has been dull and irregular, and prices, upon the whole, rather weak. At the close of last week we noticed the firmer tone: and more active cealings, and referred to the fact that these were taken as indications that a more active speculative movement might be approaching. Thus iar, however, such expectations have been disappointed, and at the close to-day the tone was generally weak (except in Lake Shore) after having shown a firmer tendency in the morning. The presidency of the Chicago and Northwestern Railroad has passed into the hands of Mr. Albert Keep, of Chicago, a brother of the former president, Mr. Henry Keep, and Mr. Tiacy resigns the office on account of his health. A dividend of 3½ per cent on the preferred stock only was declared to-day. The Lake Shore and Michigan Southern road loses its president in the death of Hon. Horace F. Clarke, who was also president of the Union Pacific. The stock of the latter company has been seriously depressed in consequence, and tonched 22 to-day, closing at 23 b d. It is not yet known who will succeed Mr. Clarke as resident of either company. The Pacific Mail directors have been he session considering the question of issuing $6,000.000 of mortgage bonds to supply the necessary funds to pay for steamers new building, and for other purposes, but have not yet come to any decision; the stock sold down to 37½ yesterday and to-day.

The Gold Market.—Gold closed this evening at 1152 against 117 last Friday, and 118 two weeks since, thus showing a decline of 15 for the week, and 25 in the fortnight. As to the immediate decline, it arises, of course, from the trite reason that there are, for the time being, "more sellers than buyers," but as to the deeper cause which underlies this, opinion is somewhat divided. On the one side it is believed that the present decline is in consequence of the selling out 1 y the clique and an absordance of the selling out 1 y the clique and an absordance in the long talked of plan for an upward movement; on the other hand it is reported that the lower price is purposely made in order to enable the clique to buy in the July Treasnry disbursements of gold at a low figure. The operations of the Treasury in their large sales and their Syndicate disbursements, have certainly been adverse to the gold party, and as there is yet no sign of a large export, which they probably counted upon for assistance, it is not unpatural to suppose that they have tired of carrying a large amount of gold, and have resolved to "unload," for the present at least. Time loans of gold have been quoted as follows: 30 days, flat to \(\frac{1}{2}\) for carrying; 60 days, flat to \(\frac{1}{2}\) for use, and 6 months, \(\frac{1}{2}\) at for use, the rates paid for carrying to day wore 3, \(\frac{3}{2}\), 4, 5, and 3 per cent, and flut for borrowing. At the Treasury sale of \(\frac{2}{2}\),000,000 on Thursday the total bids amounted to \(\frac{4}{2}\),210,000. Customs receipts of the week have been \(\frac{1}{2}\),726,000.

The following table will show the tourse of the gold premium each day of the past week; ont the week and closes steady at 1094 for prime 60 days sterling and 1104 for short sight. The fluctuations in gold have the effect, as usual, of unsettling business in exchange which is all done on a gold basis and the demand has consequently been limited. The amount of commercial bills making is small and with any large demand it is believed that prices would advance. The syndicate bankers are reported to have been among the principal drawers of late. Quotations are as follows:

North Carolina Special Tax Bonds.—A large meeting of the North Carolina Special Tax bondholders was held on Wednesday at the office of Thomas Denny & Sons, at No. 39 Wall street, to take measures for the enforcement of their claims to the past due interest. Thomas Denny, Chairman, reported that after the sub mission of the ease to the Hon. Reverdy Johnson, of Baltimore, Md., to undertake the suit of the bondholders against the State of North Carolina en terms favorable to the bondholders, the same kind of engagement was made with C. McDonald to carry on an additional suit on equally favorable terms. An abstract of the North Corolloa on terms favorable to the boundeders, the same additional suit on equally favorable terms. An abstract of the opinion of Reverdy Johnson was read at the moreing to the effect that the Special Tax bonds are binding upon the State, that the State had no right to appropriate to herself the provisions for such a levy as the legislation under which the bonds were issued; that her proper officers were bound to levy the annual tax provided for to meet the interest, and the holders of the bonds who are not citizens of the United States may compel them to do so by a writ of mandamus from the United States for the district of that State. An abstract of the opinion of the Hon. Caleb Cushing, furnished by C. McDonald, given in regard to a special tax case, but hearing equally on the various special tax bonds, was also read, to the effect that first, as a Circuit Court of the United States cannot issue the writ of mandamus except to enforce a judgment previously rendered by it, it will be necessary to obtain a judgment on the coupon in the Circuit Court before applying for the mandamas. As soon as assents to the extent of $1,200,000 bonds have been sent in, su ts will be begun under the agreement with Reverdy Johnson. As soon as assents to the extent of another $1,000,000 bonds have been sent in, su ts will be brought under agreement with Mr. McDonald, who originated and carried ander agreement with Mr. McDonald, who originated and carried to successful issue the recently decided suit in tavor of North Carolina Railroad bondholders.—N. (Returns for the Fiscal Year ended March, 31, 1873)

The Macon & Augusta Railroad is a new road extending from Warrenton (51 miles west of Augusta), Ga., via. Milledgeville, to Macon, Ga., and was built with the idea of intercepting at Macon a portion of the southwestern traffic naturally belonging to the Central Railroad and branches. The country traversed is a fertile and populous part of Georgia, and ought to supply a commensurate business. The road, nevertheless, has not proved a success, but appears to have been a builden on the Georgia Railroad Company which operate it, from the very beginning.

Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Railroad.—At the annual meeting of this company held some time since the following gentlemen were elected Directors: Ginery Twichell, Thomas Nickerson, Joseph Nickerson, F. H. Peabody, Alden Speare, George B. Wilbur, Isaac T. Burr, and B. P. Cheney, of Boston; Henry Strong, of Chicago; C. K. Holliday, Thomas J. Peter, and D. L. Lasin, of Kansas; and George Opdyke, of New York. Mr. Twichell declined to serve any longer as President, and Mr. Burr as Vice President, and resolutions were unanimously adopted in lice President, and resolutions were unanimously adopted in recognition of their services. After the meeting the directors met and organized by the choice of Mr. Strong as President and Mr. Thomas Nickerson as Vice President. From the report submitted we extract the following:

"The year ending March 31, 1873, has been the crisis in the affairs of your road. The charter was granted March 3, 1863. The route prescribed was from Atchison on the Missouri river to route prescribed was from Atchison on the Missouri river to the western boundary of the State of Kansas, in the direction of Santa Fe, New Mexico, a distance estimated at 500 miles. The time for completion was limited to ten years, which expired March 3, 1873. Five years and six months were allowed to pass without commencing operations. In September, 1868, the charter was transferred to new parties. Thirteen per cent of the stock is now held in Kansas and the West, twelve per cent in New York, and seventy-five per cent in New England. In 1869, 28 miles were built; in 1870, 34 miles; in 1871, 75 miles. The western boundary of Kansas not having been established we estimated the remainder to be built at about 343 miles. The time for the completion of the road and telegraph was limited, and only one year remained. The consequence, if it should not be completed within the time would be serious. The means were provided, and the work completed, but the advance in materials, the tight ness in the money market, the indispensable and unprecedented rapidity with which it was performed, have increased the cost rapidity with which it was perf rmed, have increased the cost more than six hundred thousand dollars.

"The road was complete I and cars run over the entire line from Atchison, on the Missouri river, to Sargent, on the western boundary of Kansas, 4691-miles on the 28th of December last, thus 3321 miles were built in less than nine months. The road is well $321 miles were built in less than nine months. The road is well built with a good quality of rails fish jointed, laid upon oak ties, transported on an average more than 500 miles. It runs by the side of the Arkansas river for 300 miles, is of easy grades and curves, and is equipped with 38 first-class engines and 700 cars, as will appear by the report of the General Superintenent. The amount of business upon it for a new road in a new country is appropriate and 700 cars, as the propriate of the superintenent. amount of business upon it for a new road in a new country is unprecedented. The earnings for the portion operated list year were over $4,000 per mile of road per year. Five thousand dollars per mile extended over the entire road will pay the running expenses and interest on the cost of the road. We do not expect to earn that amount this year or the next, but we do confidently hope to do so at the end of the third year.

"In addition to the road built and owned by the company we are operating a branch from Newton to Wichita, 27½ miles long, at a rental of 35 per cent of the gross earnings. The Texas cattle are transported over this branch in large quantities. It now ends at operating a branch from Newton to Wichita, 27½ miles long, at a rental of 35 per cent of the gross earnings. The Texas cattle are transported over this branch in large quantities. It now ends at the border of the Osage Indian Trust Lands, but may, and probably will, be extended through these lands and the Indian Territory to Texas at no very distant day. The main road now terminates at the boundary of Colorado, the whole distance from Atchison to this point was estimated before the boundary was established by the United States Government at 500 mlles, but the actual distance as the road is built is 46½ miles, making with the Wichita branch (27½ miles) 397 miles operated by the company. This road will eventually form an important link in the great line between the Atlantic and Pacific, passing through tho most valuable and productive mining region of Colorado and New Mexico. A bill giving a right of way for the extension of the Mexico. A bill giving a right of way for the extension of the road passed the House of Representatives at its last session, but was left on the table of the Senate with other unfinished business. A territorial churter, however, has been obtained and will be used for its extension whenever the company holding the charter think it expedient. charter think it expedient.

"The route is feasible and desirable, and is certain to be occupied at no distant day.

"The land secured to the company by the building of the road within the time prescribed is 6,400 acres per mile of road, or 3,004,800 acres. The quality of the land is not excelled by any in 3,004,800 acres.

the State or country. The country through which the road passes has been aptly called "the Garden of Kansas." At $4 per acre, the proceeds of these lands will pay the entire cost of the road. The plan sdopted for their sale and the terms of payment are desirable and easy for the purchaser."

Pacific R. R. of Missouri.—Reports from Jefferson City, Mo. have announced that the Governor and Attorney General of Mo have decided to advertise this road for sale, under authority of the resolutions passed by the Legislature at its recent session. This action is taken to test the constitutionality of the law of 1868, releasing the State lien upon the road, and authorizing the sale of the road to the company. The sale will take place December 19. It is said that the company will at once apply for an injunction, and thus bring the case into court.

St. Louis, Kansas City & Northern.-This road is to be advertised for sale by the Governor of Missouri, under the resolutions passed by the Legislature of the State at its late session, in order to test the constitutionality of the act of 1868, under which the road (and also the Missouri Pacific) was sold and the State's lien on it released. The sale is to take place December 22.

Canton Company of Baltimore.—The annual meeting of stockholders was held recently in Baltimore.

Mr. Charles J. Baker, the President of the Company, presented the annual report, showing the operations and plans of the Company at this time, and its connection with the Union Railroad and its tunnel and other important enterprises. The report states that the Union road will be opened in a few days through the city. After giving the history of the legislation and the first failures to construct the road and the final shouldering of the enterprise by the Canton Company, the report says they are able now to present a great work and a grand tunnel, second to none in importance in this country or Europe.

this country or Europe.

The Union railroad commences at present at its junction with the track of the Northern Central railroad, near Charles street, and its terminus at tide water at Canton, and together with its eastward branch, connecting with the Philadelphia, Wilmington & Baltimore railroad, makes about 7½ miles of double track road—with sidings and switches about 18 miles of rails.

making, with sidings and switches, about 18 miles of rails.

The privilege is accorded (by terms of stock subscription) to the The privilege is accorded (by terms of stock subscription) to the Canton Company to have any branches of the Union railroad extended to any property or wharves owned by the company. The land required by the Union railroad along North street, which is widened to 150 feet, the railroad requiring 100 feet for double track, sidings, &c., and also for its extension to Thirteenth street, Colgate creek, and to the Susquehanna on the west, and for water station, turn-table, and other terminal facilities, amounts in all to 35 acres, which laud and the right of way has been deeded to the Union Railroad Company at a consideration of two hundred thousand dollars.

The stockholders of the Canton Company own 5,940 shares out of 6,000 shares of the capital stock, at the par value of $100 per share. The bonded dept of the Union Railroad is a first mortgage of $900,000 6 per cent currency bonds, payable in 1895; $783,010 of the said bonds are guaranteed by the Canton Company, and $117,000 by the city of Baltimore. The second mortgage bond is for $600,000, gold, bond payable in 1900, also endorsed by the Canton Company, thus making the total cost of the Union Railroad, with stock and bonded debt, and the amount due to the road, with stock and bonded debt, and the amount due to the Cantoa Company for land, $2,300,000.

By charter the Company is permitted to charge as the maximum rate ten cents toll per mile per passenger, and half that ann per ton per mile for freight. It is estimated that 1.100 passengers pass over the Philadelphia, Wilmington & Baltimore Railroad daily, which would give in round numbers 400,000 passengers for the year. Of this number of passengers the report anticipates that 300,000 would prefer the Union tunnel route for the South. The report further states that two millions of tons of coal, iron, number oil and other merchandia, would pass over the road each number oil and other merchandia, would pass over the road each lumber, oil and other merchandise would pass over the road each year, and which would yield to the road a yearly revenue of $600,000. The business of the Canton Company for the past year

Is set down as follows:

The aggregate amount of sales of land annuities and houses being $239,631 16, and that of leases executed and under nego-

$23,898, making a grand total of $637,931 16.

To accommodate the great coal trade expected from the Northern Central Railroad and the Western Maryland Railroad extensive piers and trestle work for coal wharves will be speedily

The report of the treasurer showed the receipts for the year to have been $711,214 51, of which $540,000 was the net proceeds of sale of Canton bonds issued to pay the balance of stock subscriptions of the Canton Company to the Union Railroad, leaving $171,214 50 received from other sources.

A sinking fund for the redemption of the second mortgage bonds of the Union Railroad, endorsed by the Canton Company, has been created by conveying to the trustees of the former trust $173,483 33 of ground rents, yielding an annual income of $10 400. This fund, with its accretions, will fully liquidate the bonds in gold in 1900, as well as setting apart one fifth of same to redeem the Canton bonds issued in July last, as required by the compact, and redeemphle in 1882. and redeemable in 1882.

with its accretions, to $2,511,550 66; Union Railroad bonds purchased, $36,500; the Canton Company sinking fund, $3,433 50;

Union Italiroad bonds purchased, $3,000.

The disbursements are $719,523 90, of which $174,000 was paid on Union Railroad stock subscription, $20,000 on call los n account, on Union Railread stock subscription, $20,000 on call los naccount, $74,802 07 on bills payable, and $20,526 41 interest on Canton bonds due January 1, 1873.

During the past thirty years $1,237,852 72 has been expended of the income of the Company in permanent improvements, and has gone to a construction account, which otherwise would have been properly divided among the stockholders in dividends.

The report concludes with very hopeful views of Canton in the future as a great cost depot and manufacturing centre, and predicts that the Reading Railroad will yet seek an outlet at that point

After the report had been read and ordered to be printed, with the treasurer's and other railroad reports, Charles J. Baker offered a series of resolutions, in effect:
